

INVEST IN GLENDALE

KALEM COMPANY TO MAKE GLENDALE HEADQUARTERS FOR HUGE PLANT

Glendale is to have its inning in the picture industry. For years the Kalem company has had a studio in this city, but plans have recently been consummated whereby all the Kalem companies in the United States will be established at the huge studio now being completed in Glendale.

About Christmas time Mr. Wm. Wright, secretary and treasurer of the Kalem Moving Picture company, came to California and after a careful survey of suitable sites chose Glendale as the ideal place to locate their entire picture making plant.

A lease was secured on 7½ additional acres adjacent to the old Kalem studio for a long term of years, making it worth while to make a heavy investment.

Work has already started on a mammoth studio and as soon as this is completed a complete laboratory will be erected, which will make it possible to develop all films at the local plant. These buildings, together with other improvement of the studio grounds will represent a big outlay of capital. This work is under the direct supervision of S. V. Boyd, technical director of the Kalem company for many years, and who is an experienced architect.

Not only will the Kalem studio be one of the largest in the world, but will have five regular companies working from it as well as extras when occasion demands.

On January 1st of this year an additional company started work at the studio under the direction of Howard M. Mitchell, who is featuring True Boardman in the Stinger Series.

The original local Kalem company under the direction of James W. Horne is busily engaged in turning out episodes in the Girl from Frisco series. This serial has broken all records for pictures of like nature and will be continued indefinitely.

As soon as the new studio is completed the two Kalem companies now in Hollywood will be transferred to Glendale, and in the early spring the company at Jacksonville, Fla., will be brought here, making in all five companies with regular payroll of about two hundred people, not counting extras.

The establishment of Kalem's picture producing headquarters in Glendale will give a wonderful impetus to the growth of Glendale the coming year, as directly and indirectly it will be the means of adding to the local population from 600 to 800.

Phil Long, general manager of the corporation, and S. V. Boyd, studio manager from New York, have already moved to Glendale and other principals will arrive later.

AUTOMOBILE COLLISION

Whether it was to determine which machine would stand the impact better or whether it was to see which driver had the right of way was the cause of a very bad collision of two large automobiles Friday evening about 4:30 at the crossing of Brand boulevard and Colorado streets, Glendale. A heavy taxi, belonging to the Alexander Auto and Taxi company of Los Angeles, was going south on Brand boulevard and the other car was a heavy roadster driven by D. T. Reed of Pasadena, which was going east on Colorado street. It seemed that each driver was trying to be first across the street, with the result that both machines were very badly damaged, radiators, lamps, wind shields and broken wheels went flying in every direction. Fortunately, both drivers were alone and neither was hurt.

PACIFIC AVENUE P. T. A.

The January meeting of the Pacific Avenue P. T. A. was held Thursday afternoon and was one of the most enjoyable and helpful meetings ever held. A very good attendance heard a splendid program which Mrs. R. A. Puffer of the program committee furnished. Mrs. Cowan of Burbank sang two numbers in most pleasing manner. A carefully prepared paper and demonstration by Mrs. Minnette Sherman, Mrs. Begg assisting, on "Food Values for Children" was enjoyed. Lentil puree and nut and rice rarebit, prepared by Mrs. Sherman, was passed around to be tasted and approved of. The fireless cooker was advocated as a work and fuel saver. Mrs. Ella Richardson, the president, then gave a practical demonstration of dishwashing and also showed some new kitchen utensils used in "short cut" housework. The chairman of domestic science of the federation was present and encouraged discussion of domestic science at the P. T. A. meetings.

MRS. RICHARDSON MAKES CORRECTION

Mrs. Ella W. Richardson states that the article in last Evening's Glendale News stating that the affair given by Miss Ella Wall and Miss Dorothy Woods to the members of a Reading Circle, was an announcement party for her daughter is not true. The guests were a group of friends of Miss Wall and Miss Wood and if Miss Richardson chose to make such an announcement she would do so in her own home to friends whom she would choose. All the family regret that an erroneous report was made of the matter.

The article came to the News office not from the Richardson family but from those who were interested in the little party and are considered to be persons of intelligence. The Evening News wants only authentic news, especially upon a subject of this character.

Guy Maxwell, a mining engineer of Tonopah, Nevada, is spending a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Maxwell of Park avenue.

AT GLENDALE HIGH

TALENTED READER PLEASES STUDENTS—GLENDALE VS. AZUSA TODAY

Glendale High School students were given a real treat yesterday by Francis Labadie, delineator of human character. Mr. Moyse had promised the school an extraordinary entertainment. We got more than that. Mr. Labadie is not only a refined and able entertainer, but the spirit of his whole work is the spirit of belles-lettres.

Having spent much of his life among the sturdy French-Canadian people who inhabit the Yukon, Mr. Labadie translates the best of the literature of the north in a way that gives his listeners a remarkable insight into the nature and manners of those interesting people.

Seldom are thrilling entertainment and practical education so skillfully combined as by this talented reader.

The 'varsity basketball squad will meet the Citrus Union High school team this afternoon at Azusa in what promises to be the hardest fought game of the season. Citrus Union was not in our league last year, but she cleaned up every team in her own league, and this year has been given a broader field of battle. The husky farmer lads are noted for their sticktoitiveness, and if Glendale didn't have a marvelous little basketball machine our chances would not be strong. As it is, Coach Wright expects to bring home the bacon.

Then, too, Glendale athletes are greatly encouraged over the 33-14 trouncing our lightweight team administered Thursday to Hollywood's light quintet. Hollywood was doped for the championship by L. A. sportsmen.

RECEIVES WIRELESS LICENSE

Ronald Greenwalt, the 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Greenwalt of 1508 Oak street, is a very happy boy, having received yesterday a government license to be a wireless operator after successfully passing the examination. Ronald is a member of the Radio club, composed of Glendale boys who meet every Saturday night and have their own library and are intensely interested in the study of wireless. All the boys have built their own instruments. The officers of the club are Hubert Woods, president; Dan Campbell, first vice president; Jason Kilgore, secretary, and Ronald Greenwalt, treasurer. There are about 25 amateur wireless operators in this community.

BILLY SUNDAY TRAIL HITTERS TO INVADE NEW YORK TOMORROW

(By United Press)
NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—The Billy Sunday cocktail is being mixed here today and will be served at a thousand places in New York tomorrow.

This cocktail is made of seasoned Sunday trail hitters. There'll be a thousand of them from Philadelphia and others from elsewhere. Most of the Philadelphians will be of seven-year vintage and bottled in unbroken religious bonds.

The idea is to serve this cocktail to New York tomorrow and several others of the same kind later, to whet the public's appetite for the big religious feast when Billy cuts loose here April 1. The Billy Sunday cocktail is made like this:

Take one made-over, old-line churchman, mix him thoroughly with two plain trail hitters (lawyers, burglars and ex-saloonkeepers preferred); add one Bible class expert, bring them to boil and serve red hot to the sinners.

The "invasion" will take the form of community and church meetings. It will be under the direction of the Rev. George G. Dowie, leader of the Philadelphia Bible classes. In his words:

"The idea is to give New Yorkers an idea of the tremendousness of this proposition. They needn't be afraid of who's coming. Whether you are a $25,000 a year man or a $500 man, we'll suit your needs."

One of the big attractions probably will be Al Saunders of Scranton, Pa., a trail hitter as fiery of hair, mustache and manner as the booze he used to consume. It is said that John D. Rockefeller, Jr., wept the first time he heard Saunders tell his story.

This is the first step the Sunday campaigners will take in their plans to develop atmosphere for the evangelist's coming.

WEATHER FORECAST—Clearing and cooler tonight. Sunday fair. Light easterly winds.

DR. JOHNSON RETURNS

JOURNEYS THROUGH COLD AND SNOW TO LAND OF SUNSHINE

Dr. A. E. Johnson arrived in Glendale Wednesday to spend the winter and is stopping at the new Easton hotel on Brand boulevard. This is Dr. Johnson's eighth winter in Southern California and his second winter in Glendale. Last winter he established an office for the practice of medicine in the Wright block and may establish an office here again this winter. He returned to his home in Cloquet, Minnesota, last May and had hoped to dispose of his property and business interests there so that he could bring his family with him this year and make Glendale his permanent home. But while not successful in accomplishing this he hopes to do so in a short time. He purchased residence property on East Fifth street, Glendale, last winter. Dr. Johnson states that when he left Minnesota the thermometer registered 30 degrees below zero and he came through cold weather and snow all the way until he reached San Bernardino, and that it seemed good to breathe the fine California air again. But he was more pleased when he reached Glendale, which he says seems like home to him now. He was glad to note that so many hoped-for things have come to pass since his last visit, as for instance, the proposed new post-office and the extension of Brand boulevard. He has been reading the Glendale Evening News faithfully during his absence and so has kept posted on all these things. He also noted many new building improvements on his return, among them the new Christian Science church, the Easton hotel and Peters block. Dr. Johnson says he considers Glendale the prettiest city in Southern California. His favor in the past has been pretty well divided between Pasadena and Glendale, but he has decided that he likes Glendale best and is getting things in shape as rapidly as possible so that he may bring his family to California and remain here permanently. He has a daughter attending the university and a son in high school in the east. Mrs. Johnson visited California in 1915 and was as greatly pleased with California and its fine mild climate as her husband and is anxiously awaiting the time when she can come to make this her home. Dr. Johnson's Glendale friends were glad to welcome him back among us again.

UNITY CHAPTER INSTALLATION

The officers of Unity Chapter, No. 116, Royal Arch Masons, were installed Friday night, Retiring High Priest Dale Owen Peet being the installing officer and Past High Priest Mattison Boyd Jones the master of ceremonies.

There was a large and enthusiastic attendance of members of the chapter. At the close of the installation ceremonies the newly installed high priest, Ross Henry Rook, presented to the retiring high priest, Dale Owen Peet, on behalf of the chapter and with a very appropriate speech, a beautiful gold ring having the emblems of the lodge, chapter and council engraved thereon. It was a very beautiful gift and Mr. Peet responded in a splendid address, being very appreciative of the gift. The character of the new officers and the good spirit manifested by the entire membership prophesy a most successful year for Unity chapter. The members adjourned to the lower hall to enjoy the sumptuous banquet spread and the good fellowship of the hour, speeches being made by Past High Priest Mattison B. Jones and P. P. Paulson, a visitor from Los Angeles. The new officers of the chapter are: Ross Henry Rook, excellent high priest; Roy William Masters, king; Clement L. V. Moore, scribe; Frank Horn Vesper, treasurer; C. Harry Woolsey, secretary; C. Irving Mills, chaplain; Mark T. Lee, captain of the host; Daniel Kelly, Jr., principal sojourner; William Small Rattray, Royal Arch captain; S. Riley Lyons, master third veil; James Wyvell, master second veil; John Havner Southard, master first veil; Henry Richmond, Goodwin, organist; Chas. H. Ravenscroft, sentinel.

George Atcheson, Jr., visited at the home of his aunt, Mrs. I. J. Phillips, at 710 West Fifth street, this week, returning to Berkeley Friday, where he is attending the University of California, this being his second year. He has been spending the holidays with his father, Dr. George Atcheson, at Denver, Colo.

RANGERS VISIT TELEPHONE PLANT

The Forest Ranger Meeting now convening in Berkeley and attended by Forest Rangers from all the National Forests in California, is creating a great deal of enthusiasm among members of the Forest Service and is bound to result in increased efficiency in the administration of the National Forests in this State, according to District Forester DuBois. The program Monday, January 8, was devoted to a study of the value of preliminary plans in Forest Service work. An excellent paper was read by R. H. Charlton of Los Angeles, Supervisor of the Angeles National Forest, on the subject of "Gains in Effectiveness through Preliminary Planning." This paper was followed by an excellent discussion from Ranger E. P. Gleason of the Tahoe National Forest.

The chief speaker of the morning was F. E. Boyd, of the General Electric Company, who gave a most excellent address upon the value of working plans in business enterprises. Following Mr. Boyd's address the subject was further discussed by Ranger J. B. Stephenson of the Cleveland National Forest. S. W. Wynne, of Bakersfield, Supervisor of the Sequoia National Forest, completed the morning's program with a detailed account of the best way of drawing up the Supervisor's spring plans.

In the afternoon the convention adjourned for a visit to the downtown operating plant of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company in San Francisco. A thorough inspection of the long distance operating room was made, followed by visits to the information office, the terminal room, and the battery room. All the important features of the efficient system of the Telephone Company in handling local and long distance calls were examined and explanations were made by the local officials of the Telephone Company who conducted the Forest Rangers through the plant in groups of ten.

In this inspection trip of the men, particular attention was paid to the highly organized and efficient operation methods of the Telephone Company, and ideas were gained whereby the more than 4,000 miles of telephone line on the National Forests in California might be handled more efficiently. Telephone lines play a great part in the efficient handling of National Forest business, and modern methods of forest fire fighting could scarcely be carried on without the use of telephones.

It was the unanimous opinion of the men present that the visit would result in increased efficiency in the handling of National Forest communication systems.

CALIFORNIA MINERALS IN 1916 BREAK RECORD

The statistical division of the State Mining Bureau, under the direction of Fletcher Hamilton, State Mineralogist, has made a careful estimate, from information now available, of the mineral production of the State for the year 1916 just closed. This estimate is in advance of the actual figures which will be available later. The indications are that the total for all products, metallic and non-metallic, will reach a figure approximating $119,000,000, as against a total of $96,663,369 in 1915, and for the first time in the history of the State exceeding one hundred millions in value. The major portion of the increase is due to copper. The output of that metal increased about 50 per cent. in quantity and over 60 per cent. in price per pound, more than doubling the total value of the year's product. That gold practically held its own in spite of the strike shut-down on the Mother Lode in Amador County, and an increase of about a half a million in silver, are attributable largely to the increase in copper output. Of the other important metals, tungsten, lead, zinc and quicksilver, all made noteworthy gains. The sales of the last named were characterized by previously unheard-of high prices during the first four months of the year, but later settled down to an average around $75 per flask for the last six months. The quantity will probably reach 20,000 flasks valued at $2,500,000.

Petroleum shows an increase of about 2,000,000 barrels in quantity and some $5,000,000 in value. As to chrome, magnesite and manganese, it is too early yet to obtain any very definite idea of the amounts; but it seems likely that the total of the three will reach at least $1,500,000. There are two new items added to the commercially productive list this year; molybdenum and strontium, small amounts of which were sold.

The estimated values for 1916 are as follows: gold, $22,500,000; silver, $1,400,000; tungsten, $4,000,000; copper, $17,000,000; lead, $1,000,000; zinc, $2,000,000; quicksilver, $2,500,000; antimony, iron, molybdenum, platinum, $59,000; petroleum, $49,000,000; chrome, magnesite, manganese, $1,500,000; natural gas, $1,800,000; brick, cement, building stone, crushed rock, etc., $13,200,000; miscellaneous "industrial" materials, $1,255,000; salines, $2,100,000; total, $119,314,000.

THE SURE WAY THE BEST

In business the safe and sure way is always the best. It is not wise to conduct business in a reckless manner. Before engaging in any line of business the person planning to engage in it should look the field over carefully, take an inventory of the conditions, and then be guided largely by that pre-inventory. Be slow to listen to the advice of strangers. Experience has taught the business man that "all is not gold that glitters."

To engage in business requires capital, and to continue in business successfully requires more than capital—it requires perseverance and a well-balanced head. Any one who has money can invest it, but it is not everyone who can make the investment pay.

The man with capital who comes from the East to California is given a hearty greeting by men whose counsel can not always be relied upon. The newcomer is advised by strangers to purchase real estate; he is advised to engage in business, and if he heeds the advice of those so-called promoters he is apt to be loaded down with real estate in out of the way places, that goes unnoticed except when the tax assessor calls, and he will have money invested in a stock of merchandise for which there is no demand.

THE STATE LIBRARY

The California schools are fortunate in having a state library that has interested itself in and developed a plan for complete library service to the state. In carrying out these plans it is doing much for the cause of elementary education. In its efforts to establish in every county in the state a county free library and to encourage the affiliation of the school district libraries with this county library, as provided for under section 1715 of the Political Code, it is increasing immensely the book privileges, not only of adults in communities, but also of the children in the elementary schools. There are now 30 county free libraries in operation, and the state library is still sending out its organizers to the end that eventually all counties in the state shall have this service. The state library also sends out a school library organizer to assist the county superintendents of schools and the county librarians in explaining what the advantages of the free library service are and how the school districts may take advantage of it. It is obvious that this activity on the part of the state library is of great value to schools, as co-operation with the county free library is rapidly solving all the problems of library service for teachers and for pupils.

FOREST SERVICE SELLS TIMBER

A sale of 52,048,000 feet B. M. of pine saw timber on what is known as the McCoy logging unit, Lassen National Forest, near Susanville, California, was made recently by the Forest Service to the S. H. Chase Lumber Company of San Jose, California. This firm expects to install a mill early next season and to begin cutting in the summer of 1917. The contract with the Government allows a period of eight years for the completion of the sale. Recent Forest Service reports, according to District Forester Dubois, indicate that there is a great interest in timber offered for sale in the Susanville region—the country tributary to the Fernley and Westwood branch of the Southern Pacific Railroad—and it is expected that other timber sales will be made here within the near future. National Forest timber in that locality is easily logged since it is on areas comparatively level and is tributary to railroad transportation. The stand is practically all pine. Of particular interest to the counties in which it is contained is the fact that 25 per cent. of the receipts of all timber sales made by the Government are returned to the counties to be spent for schools and roads.

THE ONE THAT IS BEST

Says "Collier's Weekly": "There is only one best conduct of life for you, and that is—the one that is best for you. Those who wander aimlessly in quest of the single right formula for existence grope in a maze through which they must thread their way endlessly in search of the center which does not exist. There is no one recipe which will serve for all mankind. Each must learn, not his neighbor's, but his own best way of living. To one it may be the routine task, the daily round, to curb the wandering will and bring content. To another it may be the fortitude to escape the sheltering care of habit or the lassitude of sloth. To one it should be the abandonment of philosophy or introspection to rub elbows with his fellow men; to another the willingness to let the soul awake and breathe amid the sky-rimmed prairie and under the deathless stars. To one, hearthstone and slippers; to another, the seven seas, the aurora borealis and the Southern Cross. To one, society; to another, solitude. To one, the quiet which stills the passions; to another, the eternal restlessness which brings achievement. The best rounded life contains something of each and all. There are but two attitudes to avoid: the level line of least resistance, and the rigidity of self-distrust which denies every impulse simply because it is impulse. Somewhere between the two lies your course. Many are the thickets to be hewed down, many the crags to be scaled. But beyond stands the Inn in the Clearing, where faithful travelers may find the refreshment, the rest, and the kindly words of welcome which form the goal and reward of life well lived."

Good citizenship, patriotism and respect for the Flag are educational aims which have engaged the attention and received the aid of the Daughters of the American Revolution. This organization has not only expressed its interest in words, but has shown it in the presentation to the schools of national flags to be used in teaching lessons of loyalty. Once more we have an illustration of a valuable agency heartily co-operating with public school officers for the benefit of children.

STREET WAIF'S IDEA

Jane Addams, our great American philanthropist, has done more for the improvement of the poor in our great cities than any other woman. In 1889 she helped establish Hull House, an adaptation of the "social settlement" plan to Chicago conditions. In her work as street cleaning inspector in Chicago, she came in frequent contact with the little "street waifs." She tells the following anecdote:

A social settlement worker was holding night school in one of the old tenement buildings of Chicago. Her pupils consisted of boys of various ages, some bootblacks, some newsboys, and some who were mere street urchins. They took a lively interest in American history. At this particular time they were studying about the Revolutionary war. The teacher asked each boy to write a composition on the subject of most interest to him during his study of the war. The following is the "composition" handed in by a newsboy:

HOW WE GETS OUR FLAG Ac I. "Revolution War."

Seen 1 (Too soljiers talkin' in de camp.)

1st Sol—Ain't it fierce we ain't got no flag?

2nd Sol.—Gee! Ain't it fierce?

Seen 2. (2nd soljer steps up to Washerton and gits on his sadest look.)

2nd Sol.—Ain't it fierce we ain't got no flag?

Wash.—Ain't it fierce.

Ac. II. Washerton at Home.

Seen 1.

Wash. (to his wife)—Ain't it fierce we ain't got no flag?

Wifey.—Ain't it fierce. Hold the baby and I'll make one.

Thompson, Mrs. Alfred Dove, Mrs. George Ennis of Los Angeles and Mrs. Emma Reagen.

STUDIES IN PERSONAL DEVELOPMENT

By Walt. LeNoir Church
No. 3. "WHAT COULD I DO BEST? AND WHY?"

That question is seldom correctly answered in time to avoid disaster, simply because the questioner decides on a theory, not a condition—inspired by a wish, not by reason.

The peacock wished he could sing and the neighbors voted that no amount of strenuousness could compensate for deficiency in tone and tune.

When "Skinny" tries to lead the football team, or "Fatty" aspires to shine as a contortionist, it is to laugh at new and vivid illustrations of sagacity on the wrong scent. "Sagacity" is not the truly descriptive term, and—but let it go at that.

You "Co-eds" need not get too hilarious! Just note certain enthusiasts of your sex play tennis or basketball. Take the hint that: Some of the girls may shine at athletics all of the time; all of the girls can do some athletics some of the time; but none of the girls can do all athletics ALL of the time.

Oh, yes, of course that applies to the retrograding sex, also. But they are growing wise to their limitations—at least, in part. Statistics, taken by themselves, show that ambition and puissant ability are seldom united in the same aspirant for mercantile success. What other meaning can be given to the fact that out of a thousand merchants, hardly ten per cent. avoid failure—even if they do "try, try again" at the expense of financiers who take such risks for supposedly adequate consideration.

But of that small percentage, a scant half attain to any marked, permanent opulence; and many who do are indebted to mining or some other business taking wealth direct from old mother earth, throwing the risk on those who handle the products.

The discriminating reader will not apply that last paragraph to those who make a scientific business (not mere wild-cat gambling) of mining for gold or other precious metals, whose number has been greatly increased by the military war in Europe, which widened into a commercial war throughout the world.

It appears difficult to make the average newcomer to this fair coast believe that there is anything deeper in the real estate business beyond simply buying, then waiting and watching for the right time to sell.

On a rising market they are tempted not to sell; on a falling scale of prices they cannot, or dare not, "pocket their losses" wisely.

They suggest the Arkansas Traveler, who left his roof half-finished for many years and still enjoyed, or endured, the situation.

"In dry weather," said this Ozark mountain philosopher, "I'd ketch my death up thar foolin' with roofs."

The whole secret of such average failure (outside of mere gambler's chances) is found in personal unpreparedness.

Possibly that last word has lately acquired too many political associations to be universally understood—but let it go.

Yet the cruel truth remains, marring many a life which ought to be more successful, that the great majority of people who do not succeed, owe their failure to their lack of preparedness in some unconsidered trifle, maybe some small ignorance which they did not know enough to know would wreck their business hopes.

The way to failure is paved with good intentions—with dreams of dreamers who have more wishbone than brain-bone, or backbone, perhaps. Many a hardworking UN-Success is called, in sheer derision and pity "a bonehead," when, as a matter of fact, there is not enough bone in his head to harbor the amount of brains necessary to win in his chosen business. Yet he might win out in some other good work.

A man may make a brilliant reputation selling chickens, but soon be sidetracked into bankruptcy as an ambitious cattle-dealer, horse trader or railroad builder.

The same qualities, in kind, are needed in all those undertakings. The difference is in degree and wisdom of application.

In a word, there are certain qualities and personal characteristics essential to success in any business. Say they are seven in number—and you undertake that business with but five or six of these essentials—it would not be difficult to "see your finish."

Yes, of course, that admission assumes that going into any business may be a very risky proposition.

So it is. Never lose sight of that fact. Prepare for it.

The object of this study is to try to persuade you to realize that business is so very uncertain in ultimate results that you will lose no opportunity to do what made Zenophon's retreat with his ten thousand Greeks the most masterly military achievement in history.

The secret lies in the longest word of his story, as now remembered. He kept "antiparaskuastotetos"—in "the state of being the best-prepared-possible."

By the way, Mr. or Miss High-School Graduate, if you improve on the spelling of that word, bear in mind the fact that a double decade of years passed by since the writer saw it last.

REVIVAL SERVICES

The Rev. John D. Habbick, evangelist, gave a discourse last night which held the closest attention of his hearers until the last moment of the services. He based his remarks on the wonderful words of St. Paul as found in Romans 12-1.

God's mercies must move us to please God. No man must think too well of himself, but attend every one on that calling wherein he is placed. Love and many other duties are required of us. Revenge is specially forbidden.

If the religion of the Lord Jesus Christ were just moral laws and commands and statements about just what you might do and not do, and how far to go and not to go, I don't know whether it would be very attractive to the young people. But the religion of the Lord Jesus Christ is not made up of that. We have the one side which is called the law and the other, which is the gospel. The law came by Moses, but grace by Jesus Christ.

The law has its place, but it is not the gospel. Paul was a magnificent character, intellectual, representing not so much mercy as law; but when he beheld Jesus, knew he was persecuting not so much men as Jesus, when he was immersed, immersed in the gospel, then he was a new man. I believe in that kind of immersion. The immersion of the Holy Spirit that makes a man over anew in Christ Jesus. Old things, old sins, gone forever. Old things become new. On the road to Damascus he was moral, he was true, but he did not know the gospel. Some feel that a moral man or woman necessarily knows the gospel; weighed in the scale we have we would have called him a Christian, but when he saw Jesus Christ on that road he saw something he had never seen before. Paul had never before said: "Lord, what wilt thou have me to do?" And the Lord struck him with physical blindness. Now Paul was led by his associates as far as Jerusalem, as the ultimate of salvation. But he did not stop there, as do some, and make a sort of fire escape of it; there is more in the salvation of Jesus Christ than escape from hell fire. Are you missing the "joy of your salvation?"

But Paul said "What wilt thou have me to do?" He was just as saved then as he was later when, according to church history, he was decapitated. On the road to Damascus he had to rest three days, and all Christians must have these "closing in" times with Christ. Dead to the world and alive to Christ, it may be through great suffering or sorrow or mental anguish, but we must needs suffer with him to know that personal joy in Christian activity. Ananias was told that Paul must preach to kings, he must bear the gospel through much persecution and suffering. But, oh, the glory and happiness of it all when done. Did you ever crave for the preaching, even though with much persecution, in order to carry the gospel? "I have called him to bear the gospel to kings and to the Jew and Gentile." But you cannot do it without this power, the power of the Holy Ghost. It takes power greater than any man or woman to bear the gospel with much persecution and suffering. The Scripture says Paul received the Holy Ghost.

Have you received the Holy Ghost since you believed?

Here are three admonitions. Give heed to them and they will bring you into glory, but disobey them and they will bring you into the dark:

(1) Resist not the Holy Spirit.

(2) Grieve not the Holy Spirit. (Oh, the tenderness of that word "grieve" not the One who pleads with you.)

(3) Quench not the Holy Spirit.

It is planned to have special services in connection with the Sabbath school and all of the regular services throughout the day tomorrow. Special services every night next week at 7:30 p. m. No collection.

To all who mourn and need comfort, to all who are weary and need rest, to all who are friendless and want friendship, to all who are homeless and want sheltering love, to all who pray and to all who do not, but ought, to all who sin and need a Savior and to all who are willing to enter the Christian life, this church opens wide its doors and makes a place, and in the name of Jesus Christ says welcome.

MUSH

Mush is a soft, flabby material frequently used as food and sometimes as conversation. It is found in most pantries and many heads.

As food mush is admirable, but no man should use it otherwise unless he loves the girl and intends to marry her. Mush should never be mixed with anything but milk and true love.

Some folks say mush is a vegetable. Others say it is a dessert. But anyone who has bought any lately knows what it is. It's a luxury.

Mush is queer stuff. It has to be mixed the day before and allowed to sit and think about itself all night before it's fit to eat. But that's all right. That's fine. It proves that mush is a shrewd, calculating food with a lot of good common sense. It is deliberate. It waits till next morning to decide.

Can you imagine a Bronx cocktail doing that?

HONOR IN BUSINESS

There is an honor in business that is the fine gold of it; that reckons with every man justly; that loves light; that regards kindness and fairness more highly than gods or prices or profits. It becomes a man more than his furnishings or his house. It speaks for him in the heart of every one. His friendships are serene and secure. His strength is like a young tree by a river. Anonymous.
